TAX COMMISSIONER SPENDS DAY HERE

Philip Zoercher Meets With Representatives of Corporations in Seymour.

APPRAISEMENTS REVIEWED

Information Gathered Here Will be Presented Before Entire Board in Indianapolis.

Philip Zoercher, a member of the state board of tax commissioners, spent the day here conferring with representatives of local corporations relative to appraisal of their property. The assessment figures of many of the larger corporations were reviewed by the commissioner and the data which was given will be turned over to the other commissioners in Indianapolis. Whether or not any changes will be made in the appraisements will be determined after each case is taken up. Mr. Zoercher said he had no authority himself to make any adjustments.

Representatives of the corporations were recently instructed by the state tax board to send representatives to the meeting here this morning. The conference was held at the council chamber. Addressing the corporation representatives, Mr. Zoercher stated that it was the intention of the state board to assess all corporations on the one hundred percent, cash basis, the same as other property. Corporations throughout the state have complained that the state board is doing more than that, however, and in addition to assessing their property at full cash value they are also basing the appraisements on the dividends which virtually amounts to an income tax. Zoercher said that the state board intended to follow this plan to the letter.

He had all the data concerning the appraisements as made by the county board of equalization and asked the corporation representatives why they should not be assessed higher. Notations were made in each case for reference for the state board.

Mr. Zoercher said that under the new law the state board is not bound by any appraisal made by the local authorities of any corporation. He completed his work this afternoon.

EVERY PART OF COUNTY BENEFITED BY RAINFALL

Long Drought Which Had Reached Serious Proportions, Broken by Downpour Yesterday.

The drought of several weeks which in some sections of the county had become serious, was broken by a hard downpour late Thursday afternoon. The rain was accompanied by an electrical storm and for half an hour clouds of a threatening nature hung over the city. During the electrical display the lightning played on the electric light wires and the current flashed off and on, but no serious damage resulted at the plant.

WOMAN IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Mrs. Frank Price, Jr., Knocked Down Flight of Stairs at Home East of City Thursday.

ESCAPED SERIOUS INJURY

House is Damaged by Lightning That Accompanied Storm—Tore Hole in Mattress.

Mrs. Frank Price, Jr., was struck by lightning during the storm which accompanied the heavy rain that fell between 5 and 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon and was knocked down a flight of stairs. The woman was burned on the right arm by the lightning and sustained several bruises from the fall but her condition is not considered serious.

Mrs. Price had started to an upstairs room to mop up some water where it had rained in on the floor. Just as she arrived at the top of the stairs the bolt of lightning struck and she was knocked down the stairway. Mr. Price was in the house and ran to her rescue. She received a severe shock and was in a serious condition for sometime following.

The lightning passed through the house going through several rooms into the kitchen where it set fire to a towel which had been hung on a line to dry. Mr. Price discovered the fire and rushed into the kitchen and extinguished the blaze before any serious damage resulted from the fire. The lightning also passed through the upstairs rooms in the Price home damaging a bed and tearing a hole in the mattress.

The Price home was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars a hole having been knocked in one side and the walls and ceilings in some of the rooms damaged. Mrs. Price was brought to a physician's office following the storm where she received treatment for her injuries which are not considered serious. Although somewhat nervous from the shock she is able to be up and about some today and expects to be all right again in a short time.

AUTO DRIVEN FROM OVERHEAD BRIDGE

Mystery Surrounds Unusual Accident Which Occurred at North Vernon Last Night.

TOURING CAR IS DESERTED

Authorities Are Trying to Locate Owner of Metz Car No. 232-593, Indiana License.

A search under the direction of the North Vernon authorities for the owner of a Metz touring car which carried No. 232,593, Indiana license, was extended to Seymour and other cities in this section of the state today. The automobile was deserted after it plunged from the overhead bridge just west of the Baltimore & Ohio passenger depot at North Vernon about 10:50 o'clock Thursday night. The machine dropped to the railroad tracks many feet below and was completely wrecked.

There is considerable mystery surrounding the accident and the authorities believe that the machine was either stolen or there were unusual conditions which the occupants desired to keep concealed. The machine was deserted when the wreckage was found and the authorities had received no inquiries relative to it today. The debris was removed from the track and is in the custody of the North Vernon police.

No one witnessed the accident, so far as known, but many were attracted to the scene by the report of the crash soon after the car struck the tracks. There was no one around the machine when North Vernon people started their investigation to ascertain if any one had been caught under it.

R. J. Barkley, Baltimore & Ohio patrolman, was at the North Vernon ticket office when the accident occurred. He did not hear the crash, but the accident was reported to him in a short time and he investigated. The wrecked automobile had fallen on its side and lay on the passing track. He told the North Vernon police that they could remove the car and take charge of it or the company would remove it. The police there decided to start the investigation, aided by the railroad company. The wreckage was pulled down the track by a truck and then removed from the right-of-way.

The car was evidently proceeding

HAYS NOT TO MAKE RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Republican National Chairman Declares He Has Too Many Duties At Present Post.

ADDRESS AT BROOKVILLE

Governor Goodrich Defends New Tax Law in Talk to Editors in Indiana.

By United Press
Brookville, Ind., Aug. 1.—Will H. Hays, republican national chairman, cannot accept the Indiana gubernatorial nomination, he told republican editors of the state at Magnesia Springs near here today. Hays said the national political situation is so complicated and that the potentialities are so great that he cannot desert his post at the present time. Friends of the chairman long ago connected his name with the governor's chair and he has been urged editorially and by political leaders of the state to accept the nomination.

"I am very sensible of the privilege incident to the opportunity for service and distinguished honor in the governorship of Indiana, but I cannot however, further consider being a candidate," Hays said. "I am committed to a definite undertaking."

BOUND OVER TO THE JACKSON CIRCUIT COURT

Men Charged With Automobile Theft Give Bonds For Their Appearance at October Term.

After hearing the evidence in the state case against W. L. Taylor, Paul Taylor and Cecil Taylor, charged with stealing an automobile from Henry Kovener at Crothersville on Sunday night, July 20, John Congdon, justice of the peace, bound the three men over to the Jackson circuit court. The combined bonds for the three men's appearance at the October term of circuit court was fixed at $2,000 which they furnished, $500 of the amount having been put up, in cash.

The three defendants did not take the witness stand in their behalf in the justice court. After the completion of the state's evidence a motion was made by the attorneys for the defendants to have them acquitted on the grounds that the state had failed to make a case against them which resulted in the three Taylors being bound over to circuit court.

Several Crothersville residents were called here as witnesses in the case. Mr. Kovener, the owner of the stolen car, was the first witness to testify. The plaintiff has recovered his automobile. The defendants were represented by two Indianapolis attorneys and Oscar B. Abel, of this city, and the prosecution was conducted by T. H. Montgomery, deputy prosecuting attorney.

PRICES GREATEST WORLD PROBLEM

Immediate Action is Demanded by Senator Kenyon to Meet the High Cost of Living.

CAMPAIGN TO BE WAGED

President and Cabinet Interest Themselves in Serious Situation—Committee Appointed.

By United Press
Washington, August 1.—Reductions in prices for necessities of life will become the greatest world problem. Attorney General Palmer said that federal laws would be against the profiteers and that new laws probably would be asked if necessary. The supreme economic council sitting in London began consideration of an international economic council to control the world's food and unite trusts.

Senator Kenyon in an interview demanded immediate action to meet the high cost of living, pointing to the fact that the house is about to take a month's recess with scores of bills and resolutions pending. State officials throughout the country are taking steps to insure distribution in their territory of army food purchased from the government.

President Wilson and members of his cabinet have interested themselves in the situation and are expected to take the lead in the campaign against high prices. Laws now on the statute books, Kenyon believes, will enable the government to bring a measure of relief. Kenyon's announcement followed a meeting of high government officials in his office, at which the living situation and possible remedies were discussed.

A committee has been named to make a report to the president. Its members are Director General Hines, Federal Trade Commissioner Colver, and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Leffingwell.

PROBE OF HIGH PRICES IS BEGUN IN OHIO

Governor Cox Thinks Investigation Will Result in Number of Prosecutions.

By United Press
Cleveland, O., August 1.—Ohio was at grip with the giant of high prices today.

In every county, city and village of the state a vigorous campaign was under way to determine the cause, of what the officials claim are unnecessarily high prices for food-stuffs. State, city and county are a unit in the investigation.

Governor Cox at Attorney General Price were of the opinion that the next few days will develop a number of prosecutions. Evidence was sought against food speculators and cold storage men, suspected of combining to illegally manipulate food-stuffs for the purpose of raising prices.

RAILWAY UNIONS DEMAND INCREASE

Conductors, Trainmen and Shop Workers See Readjustment of Wage Schedules.

MILLION MEN ARE CONCERNED

Director Hines Refuses to Indicate What Attitude Administration Will Take.

By United Press

Washington, August 1.—Wage demands to cover an eighty-five per cent, increase in the cost of living have been presented to the railroad administration by representatives of 690,000 conductors, brakemen, trainmen and railway shopmen, according to announcement made here today by officials of the four big railroad brotherhoods and allied unions. Similar demands to be presented within a few days by other railroad craft, officials said today, will bring to nearly one million the number of workmen concerned. Time and one-half for over time work is asked by all unions.

Rail Director Hines refused to indicate what the attitude of the railroad administration will be.

"The demands will be forwarded to me by the railroad wage adjustment board," he said. "Then I will act."

"We have asked increases averaging 35 per cent.," said President L. E. Shepherd, speaking for 52,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors.

"The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has put in a demand for increases averaging 45 per cent.," said President W. G. Lee.

"Officials representing 450,000 shop workers have demanded an increase of approximately 25 per cent.," said John Scott of the American Federation of Labor.

"I have called a meeting of brotherhoods for August 12 at Cleveland to frame our demands," said Timothy Shea, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

President Warren S. Stone said the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has made clear to President Wilson that they must have government action to curb the cost of living or his men will insist on substantial wage increases.

The shop workers have given Hines until Tuesday to reply to their demands, it was said today. This ultimatum was served on Director Hines following conferences that began weeks ago. The shop men three times postponed threatened strike action, officials said today. The first date set for direct action was June 15. This was postponed to August 1 when the workers received encouragement that their demands would be considered carefully.

"Profiteering must be eliminated or there will be revolution in the United States," said President Shea. "Profiteers in necessities of life are taking away the wage increases as fast as they are granted the workers."

"Wages of the firemen have been increased 45 per cent, since 1913. In that time the cost of living has been boosted more than eighty per cent."

"Firemen got a substantial wage increase after the government took over the roads. This was completely absorbed by the profiteers within sixty days."

President Shepherd of the conductors' brotherhood said:

"Congress has power to reduce the cost of living by setting up a maximum profit law beyond which dealers in necessities should not be permitted to go."

Bolshevism is likely to get a firm hold in America, unless the government acts to stop profiteering, according to President Lee.

Lee today denied that railroad men are "getting rich" on wage advances made by the rail administration.

EIGHT CAMPERS VENTURE FORTH FOR ANNUAL TRIP

Fish Flop Mischievously As The Tents Are Pitched on The Old Hamilton Farm.

(By A. Fish, Special Correspondent)
 Sycamore Mound, August 1—(Subterranean Service)—There was unusual commotion in White River near the Old Hamilton Farm, Redding township today, as the "Oldest Inhabitants" of the river in this vicinity stuck their heads above the surface of the water and watched the establishment of a camp on the high bank on which an old sycamore tree stood as guard for years. The fish immediately recognized their old enemies on the bank and some of them wagged their tails mischievously and returned to the deep water to reassure the younger members of the finny tribe that the proposed invasion might not be as serious as they had feared.

As the tents went up A. Gar, using his bill as a periscope viewed the situation and recognized the following campers: Judge O. H. Montgomery, C. D. Billings, T. H. Montgomery, Don A. Bollinger, E. A. Remy, R. J. Barbour, August Cordes, and Dr. L. M. Mains.

Gar hauled down his periscope and chuckled as he thought of the choice meals which would be so benevolently furnished him during the next ten days.

Little Miss Tiny Sunfish recognized Ed Remy and almost drowned as she enjoyed a hearty laugh over the strenuous efforts which he has exerted in former years in trying to hook some of her younger sisters and brothers when fish of "coupon" size refused to stage a loom end sale rush in trying to get the bait from his hook.

A big burley catfish growled as he heard the mention of the name Oscar Montgomery. "That's the fellow who was responsible for the disappearance of my brother a few years ago," he remarked to a bass which was also watching the camp take form on the mound. "It happened in this way. My brother was deceived by the big, fine chub minnow that was fighting around in the water. He grabbed it. He then found he was hooked. He was so big that he bent the hook and was about to get away but that fellow Montgomery very skillfully pulled him up to the side of his boat and rammed his hand down my brother's mouth and pulled him in the boat. Some nervy trick, I say, but oh! how that hand did look for about a week." The catfish then scurried away to spread the word among his friends that the judge from Seymour was back on the job again.

The Bass brothers happened to be around the rifle for breakfast but lost their appetite when they saw Gus Cordes and Marley Mains. "Good-bye fellows," they said in a chorus, "We've been up against that pair before. We're not going to take any chances around this rifle until they get away from here."

As the Bass brothers were leaving the rifle they encountered Mr. Turtle in the still water on the opposite bank. The turtle heard the news of the arrival of the campers and was joyous when he heard that C. D. Billings was back again. "That's fruit for me," he cried. "I certainly make life miserable for him every year, and then he goes back to camp every night and tells his companions about how many bass struck at his bait. About three years ago a pesky little bass saw me getting the bait and darted ahead of me and was hooked. Billings put the poor little bass in the fish box, but it escaped that same night through the wire netting."

"Harlan Montgomery and Don Bollinger!" exclaimed a big bass as he looked over the new camp. "Hully Gee! I can't see why the bunch didn't leave them at home this time. They won't stand for any foolishness. They mean business out here. But I'm game, too," he muttered. "It's a cinch that camp will have plenty of fish dinners with those two fellows working," the big one commented as he disappeared under a log.

Mrs. M. A. Wells, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. M. Utsinger and other relatives, returned to her home in North Vernon this morning.

REDUCTION ANNOUNCED IN POSTAL TELEGRAPH RATES

President Mackay Declares That Lower Schedules May be Only Temporary.

By United Press.
 New York, August 1—With the return of the telephone and telegraph wires to private control at midnight, Clarence Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph Company, announced twenty percent. reduction in rates throughout the country effective immediately. This restores the rate effective before the government took over the wire systems. He indicated, however, that this reduction would be only temporary, saying that if taxes and other expenses continue to increase the government rates would have to be reinstated. President Carlton of the Western Union, said that it would be impossible for his company to reduce the present rates under existing conditions.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing difficult breathing and other discomforts. Real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface.

To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which acts on the catarrh germs in the blood.

Asserts New Discovery Brings Blessed Relief To Rose and Hay Fever Sufferers

Can Make It Yourself At Home At Trifling Expense

In spite of all the doubters and scoffers, a man in Kentucky, who changed his annoying and distressing hay fever into less than a mild cold, claims most emphatically that if taken in time hay fever can be conquered or at least made so harmless that it is not even bothersome.

He gave his discovery to scores of other sufferers with the most remarkable results and has recently been prevailed upon to dispense it through pharmacists to all hay fever sufferers who still have faith that nature has provided an effective remedy for this common yet miserable disease.

And best of all this remedy costs almost nothing. Get a one ounce bottle of Mentholized Arlene at any drug store, pour the contents into a pint bottle and fill the pint bottle with water that has been boiled.

Then gargle as directed and twice daily sniff or spray each nostril thoroughly.

That's all there is to it; so simple that a lot of people will say that it can't do the work; but oftentimes simple natural remedies are the best as you will find after using.

If you will make up a pint and use it for a week or ten days you need not be surprised if your unwelcome yearly visitor fails to appear.

ing and I shall finish that job. The work in connection with the Republican national chairmanship is daily becoming so all absorbing and the importance of the successful outcome so vital that I must do that which is given me to do and must do it to the hilt.

"It has been thought by my many friends that I could do both, but I know that it is impossible to give the hundred percent efficiency in initiative and execution due each position if I have the other on my mind."

Hays forecast a republican victory in the state and nation.

Vigorously arraigning his democratic critics, Governor James P. Goodrich defended the new tax law.

Lieutenant Governor Edgar D. Bush, the only avowed candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination, has announced that he will base his candidacy on opposition to the tax law among other planks.

"There is increasing evidence that the democratic party will undertake to make an issue of the present tax law," the governor said. "Should they attack the new tax law, they will be running true to form for there is no part of the law to which they are not commissions which were creatures of their own party."

"I have never believed nor do I now believe that this is a final solution that may be had until our constitution is amended so as to give the general assembly necessary power in dealing with the taxation problem," he continued.

Governor Goodrich predicted that no political party in 1920 "will propose to repeal the law, but that upon foundation of the present law will be built the future tax laws of the state."

"Monroe Doctrine."

The famous doctrine, as announced by President Monroe in his message to congress in 1823, was a simple statement of the attitude of this country toward the South American republics. Henry Clay had made an effort to have the independence of these republics recognized, and in 1822 their independence was acknowledged by congress. President Monroe had recalled John Quincy Adams from the court of St. James to become his secretary of state, and many historians credit Adams with the authorship of the message, in which the doctrine was stated as follows: "As a principle, the American continents, by the free and independent position which they have assumed and maintained, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European power." This was undoubtedly the sentiment of the congress to which the doctrine was announced.

How New Fuel Is Made.

Liquids and solids do not ordinarily mix, and the idea of combining coal and petroleum to make a new fuel sounds rather chimerical at first, says Popular Mechanics magazine. Yet that very thing has been done, and successfully, by pulverizing the coal so finely that it forms a colloidal or suspended mixture with oil. This compound passes freely through all regular oil pipes and burners, so that it can be used for power and heat without equipment change; and it generates a greater heat value than oil alone.

We Do "Printing That Pleases."

The Value of Your Tractor Is Based on the Service It Gives

If it works all the time it is worth all you pay for it. You can keep it working all the time by using the right kind of lubricating oil.

One burned out bearing will offset the cost of a year's supply of lubricating oil. The Standard Oil Company has prepared three oils —

Heavy Polarine Oil Stanolind Tractor Oil Extra Heavy Polarine Oil

Years of experience and study have developed that one of these three oils is the correct oil for you to use. The nearest Standard Oil representative has a chart prepared by our Engineering Staff, which indicates the correct oil for you to use to get the best results in your particular tractor.

We have just published a 100-page book, "Tractors and Tractor Lubrication," prepared by our Engineering Staff, which you will find a valuable reference book, and we believe it will save you many days of tractor idleness with the resultant money loss. It's free to you for the asking. Address

SLEEPS ANY OLD WAY NOW

"I am 50 years old and never was sick until 8 years ago when I got stomach trouble. I have spent a fortune for medicine which did not cure. I kept on suffering and getting worse. A fellow worker told me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. After taking three doses I felt like a different man; before taking it I could not lie on my back nor right side. Now I can sleep any old way." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At Druggists Everywhere.

Mrs. Charles H. Allen this morning received a message from Indianapolis announcing the death at the Methodist hospital in that city Wednesday night at 9:45 of her nephew, Wilbur Allen, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Allen, of Indianapolis. His death followed a mastoid operation which he recently underwent. Definite funeral arrangements have not been learned but Mrs. C. H. Allen of this city and Mrs. J. P. Allen and daughter Carrie, of Tunnelton, left this afternoon for Indianapolis to attend.—Bedford Democrat.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

NAMES WANTED FOR INDIANA HISTORY

Every Soldier, Sailor and Marine
Requested to File Questionnaire
Issued by State Commission.

ROSTER NOT COMPLETED

Blank Questionnaire Can be Had at Cox Pharmacy—Must be Completed by September 30.

J. W. Oliver, director of the Indiana Historical Commission has issued a warning that September 30, the end of the fiscal year, has been set as the date when the war records being collected by the county war history societies are to be completed. The records will be submitted to the commission to be included in the history of Indiana's part in the World War.

R. A. Cox, secretary of the Jackson County Historical Society stated today that a large number of Jackson county soldiers have not as yet furnished the desired information concerning their part in the war which the Historical Society is very anxious to have for the state historical commission. Every soldier in the county is requested to fill out a questionnaire that is issued by the state committee. The questionnaire blank calls for name and address of soldier, when and where enlisted, time of overseas service and other similar questions concerning his activity in the war. Relatives of deceased soldiers who lost their life while in the service are requested to fill out the questionnaire for the state historical society.

Local soldiers who have not as yet filled out the questionnaire are requested to confer with Mr. Cox at the Cox Pharmacy, who has a supply of blank questionnaires on hand. It is the desire of the Jackson county Historical Society that every soldier be listed in the state war history.

Mr. Oliver, director of the state committee is also requesting information from the various war activities including the county council of defense, county conscription board, five Liberty Loan Drives, War Savings and Thrift Stamp campaigns,

Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, agricultural war work, food and fuel administration, war industries, patriotic and loyalty campaigns, liberty war work, victory editions by local papers, and special appropriations by the county council for war work. This information has been secured and all county war records are practically completed with the exception of the roster of names of soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses.

It is to be hoped that in the next few weeks that a roster including every soldier, sailor and marine in the county will be ready to turn over to the state committee. Every man in the service in any capacity should appreciate that it is his duty to posterity to sign up the blank record which he can get at the Cox drug store.

westward on the Seymour-North Vernon road and left the east approach of the overhead bridge. It rolled over the edge of the embankment. Whether the occupants jumped or were carried down with the machine is not known, but the authorities feel quite sure that no one was injured seriously and they could not have made there get-away so quickly before the arrival of the first residents at the scene.

The authorities can secure the name of the owner of the car through the license number which was procured from the secretary of state. There is a possibility that the car was stolen and that the thieves left it rather than assume the risk of arrest as a result of an investigation which would be made.

FROM DESERT TO GOTHAM

William Pester, who for 13 years lived on the southern deserts of California, went to New York recently, primarily with the intention of teaching New Yorkers how to get along comfortably on $5 per week. The photograph shows Pester with a guitar which he made from wood gathered around his desert home.

Play Fair.

How prone we are to communicate our blues, our worries to our friends, and what friends are so conveniently in reach for this purpose as our neighbors? In our solace-seeking there is no "fair play." We want to exchange gloom for brightness, discouragement for encouragement. We want to take another's time just for ourselves. It would indeed be a heartless world if we had not the privilege of seeking light, sympathy, encouragement from others in our trials, but how many people are there who regard the right a privilege—and not simply a right, as does the importunate neighbor. People who regard it a privilege will seldom abuse the right.

Widow-Burning Shrine.

In all the wonderful Holy city of Benares, on the Ganges, there is no more interesting relic than the carved stone or shrine of "Suttee," where the widows of dead men were for 2,000 years burned alive on the bodies of their lords and masters. Strange to say, the horrible practice had the complete approval of the women concerned, and until a quite recent date the passing away of a rich Hindu brought sentence of an awful death to his entire zenana or harem.

I have a car of Aviston Special Flour on hand out of old wheat. This has been tried, having sold one car load, and has proven to be satisfactory. It is guaranteed to be as good a patent flour as there is on the market, no exceptions whatever. I have a full stock of feeds—hominy feed, cracked corn, middlings, bran, horse feed, dairy feed, and all kinds of feed for all purposes. I am in the market for all the wheat, I can get, and will assure a square deal in regard to grades and price. Also rye, oats and corn at the top price. I will be open evenings to receive wheat.

Evansville Man Tells How Trutona Ended Several Week's Layoff.

Evansville, Ind., July 31—After several week's layoff as a result of troubles from which he could get no relief, Ottis Burley, a well known Evansville moulder residing at 711 Upper Seventh, is again on the job. He attributes his return to work to Trutona, the perfect tonic.

"I had stomach trouble," Mr. Burley said. "I was constantly annoyed by a heavy feeling in my stomach—seemed as though a rock lay in the pit of my stomach. My condition had become so bad that I couldn't work for several weeks."

"I feel so much better, since taking Trutona that I've returned to work. After I had taken only two bottles of this medicine I felt greatly improved. The rheumatic trouble which caused my knee to ache and swell has been relieved by Trutona, also. I give Trutona all credit for my improvement."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Seymour at W. L. Federmann's Drug Store.

NO GERMAN RUSH TO ARGENTINA IS EXPECTED

Fundamental National Principles Will Prevent Swarm Expert Declares.

By United Press

New York, Aug. 1—Fundamental national principles of the Argentine government will prevent any overwhelming swarm of German emigration to that country, according to Dr. Romulo S. Naon, Argentine minister to the United States. Naon's opinion was set forth in an interview with the New York correspondent of "La Prensa," of Buenos Aires, just before the South American diplomat sailed for home.

"I place little credence in the report that the German government will encourage emigration and settlement in Argentina of some five million Germans," said Naon. "The policy of Germany in the matter of emigration was always opposed to propaganda aiming at encouraging nationals to leave the country and settle abroad. I don't think such a policy will be modified in moments like the present. Today, more than ever before, Germany needs the co-operation and the assistance of all her children for the financial capacity."

"But even admitting that the German government or private German corporations cherish such a plan, I think its execution is equally impossible, because fundamental reasons of national Argentine policy are opposed to it. Argentina cannot admit colonizations favored by foreign governments because this would be highly detrimental to the formation of national sentiment which needs to be fomented, especially in countries in process of formation."

"Nothing that might even remotely cause the formation of a state within a state, could be viewed indifferently by the people of Argentina."

Kept The Home Fires Burning.

By United Press

Columbus, August 1—Mrs. Lottie Miller kept the home fires burning. She demonstrated that to Constable Ed Bevis when he went to her home on complaint of a stove salesman that all payments on a kitchen range had not been made. Bevis was confronted by a roaring fire. From behind a cloth protector he shoved the coal from the stove and with the aid of prys he loaded the article of dispute onto a dray.

SMOTHERING SPELLS

And Dizziness Relieved By Black-Draught, Says Ohio Lady.

Coalton, Ohio.—Mrs. Lucy J. Beatty, of R. F. D. 1, this place, writes: "Some time ago I had a great deal of trouble with my stomach. It seemed there was a hard lump formed in my stomach. This lump was sore and every time I would eat I would feel bloated and pained me terribly. It would seem to come up toward my chest."

I would have smothering spells and feel dizzy. I would start across the floor and would have to sit down. At night I smothered so I couldn't sleep. I would go to bed and wake with a start and feel like I would smother to death... The doctors said it was my age and doctored and doctored, and I didn't get any better."

I was almost discouraged so I began to look around for other remedies and while reading the Almanac I decided to try Black-Draught, which I did. I bought two packages and took it regular for awhile and it cured me and I don't have any more trouble of that kind."

If you suffer from stomach and liver troubles, give Theodor's Black-Draught a trial. It has helped thousands of others—why not you? All druggists. NCB-16

Some Accident.

A little Rockport boy was sent to town to buy ten cents worth of crackers. He bought five cents worth of crackers and five cents worth of torpedoes. Just before he got home he put the torpedoes in his hip pocket, and the mother saw at once the boy had flimmed her out of half the money. She picked up a board and hit him on his conjunction, not thinking about the torpedoes in his pocket, and they exploded, blowing the seat out of his pants. The boy is now sitting on an air cushion.—Rockport Democrat.

CHAPTER IV.

The hero of the fete, with the dark-eyed little beauty upon his arm, reached the top of the second flight of stairs; and here, beyond a spacious landing, where two proud-like darkies tended a crystalline punch bowl, four wide archways in a rose-vine lattice framed gliding silhouettes of waltzers, already smoothly at it to the castanets of "La Paloma." Old John Minafer, evidently surfeited, was in the act of leaving these delights escorted by a middle-aged man of commonplace appearance. The escort had a dry, lined face upon which, not ornamentally but as a matter of course, there grew a business man's short mustache; and his thin neck showed an Adam's apple, but not conspicuously, for there was nothing conspicuous about him. Balfish, dim, quiet, he was an unnoticeable part of this festival, and although there were a dozen or more middle-aged men present, not casually to be distinguished from him in general aspect, he was probably the last person in the big house at whom a stranger

Time Brings Joy And Happiness

As the Hours Pass the Coming of Baby Draws Nearer—Are You Prepared?

No woman awaiting the joy of coming motherhood should allow the days to pass without using the wonderful penetrating application, Mothers' Friend.

By its regular use throughout the period the system is prepared for the coming event and strain and tension is relieved. It renders the broad, flat abdominal muscles pliant and they readily yield to nature's demand for expansion. As a result the nerves are not drawn upon with that peculiar wrenching strain, and nausea, nervousness, bearing-down and stretching pains are counteracted. The abdomen expands easily when baby arrives and the hours at the crisis are naturally less. Pain and danger as a consequence is avoided.

Mother's Friend not only alleviates distress in advance, but assures a speedy recovery for the mother. The skin is kept soft and smooth and natural and free from disfigurement.

Write to the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. J, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and procure a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist. It is just as standard as anything you can think of.

would have glanced twice. It did not enter George's mind to mention to Miss Morgan that this was his father, or to say anything whatever about him.

Mr. Minafer shook his son's hand unobtrusively in passing.

"I'll take Uncle John home," he said in a low voice. "Then I guess I'll go on home myself—I'm not a great hand at parties, you know. Good night, George."

George murmured a friendly enough good night without pausing. Ordinarily he was not ashamed of the Minafers; he seldom thought about them at all, for he belonged, as most American children do, to the mother's family—but he was anxious not to linger with Miss Morgan in the vicinity of old John, whom he felt to be a disgrace.

He pushed brusquely through the fringe of calculating youths who were gathered in the arches, watching for chances to dance only with girls who would soon be taken off their hands, and led his stranger lady out upon the floor. They caught the time instantly, and were away in the waltz.

George danced well, and Miss Morgan seemed to float as part of the music, the very dove itself of "La Paloma." George became conscious of strange feelings within him: an exaltation of soul, tender but indefinite, and seemingly located in the upper part of his diaphragm.

The stopping of the music came upon him like the waking to an alarm clock; for instantly six or seven of the calculating persons about the entryways bore down upon Miss Morgan to secure dances. George had to do with one already established as a belle, it seemed.

"Give me the next and the one after that," he said hurriedly, recovering some presence of mind, just as the nearest applicant reached them. "And give me every third one the rest of the evening."

She laughed. "Are you asking?"

"What do you mean, 'asking'?"

"It sounded as though you were just telling me to give you all those dances."

"Well, I want 'em!" George insisted. "Are you going to give me—"

"Good gracious!" she laughed. "Yes!"

The applicants flocked round her, urging contracts for what remained, but they did not dislodge George from her side, though he made it evident that they succeeded in annoying him; and presently he extricated her from an accumulating siege—she must have connived in the extrication—and bore her off to sit beside him upon the stairway that led to the musicians' gallery, where they were sufficiently retired, yet had a view of the room.

"How'd all those ducks get to know you so quick?" George inquired, with little enthusiasm.

"Oh, I've been here a week."

"Looks as if you'd been pretty busy!" he said. "Most of those ducks, I don't know what my mother wanted to invite 'em here for."

"Perhaps it was on account of their parents," Miss Morgan suggested mildly. "Maybe she didn't want to offend their fathers and mothers."

"Oh, hardly! I don't think my mother need worry much about offending anybody in this old town."

"It must be wonderful," said Miss Morgan. "It must be wonderful, Mr. Amberson—Mr. Minafer, I mean."

"What must be wonderful?"

"To be so important as that!"

"That isn't important," George assured her. "Anybody that really is anybody ought to be able to do about as they like in their own town. I should think!"

She looked at him critically from under her shading lashes—but her eyes grew gentler almost at once. In truth, they became more appreciative than critical. George's imperious good looks were altogether manly, yet approached actual beauty as closely as a boy's good looks should dare; and dance music and flowers have some effect upon nineteen-year-old girls as well as upon eighteen-year-old boys.

The stairway was drafty; the steps were narrow and uncomfortable; no older person would have remained in such a place. Moreover, these two young people were strangers to each other; neither had said anything in which the other had discovered the slightest intrinsic interest; there had not arisen between them the beginnings of congeniality, or even of friendliness—but stairways near ballrooms have more to answer for than have moonlit lakes and mountain sunsets.

Age, confused by its own long accumulation of follies, is everlastingly inquiring, "what does she see in him?" as if young love came about through thinking—or through conduct. At eighteen one goes to a dance, sits with a stranger on a stairway, feels peculiar, thinks nothing, and becomes incapable of any plan whatever. Miss Morgan and George stayed where they were.

They had agreed to this in silence and without knowing it; certainly without exchanging glances of intelligence—they had exchanged no glances at all. Both sat staring vaguely out into the ballroom, and, for a time, they did not speak. Here and there were to be seen couples so carried away that, ceasing to move at the decorous, even glide, considered most knowing, they pranced and whirled through the throng, from wall to wall, galloping bounteously in abandon. George suffered a shock of vague surprise when he perceived that his aunt, Fanny Minafer, was the lady-half of one of those wild couples. She flew over the floor in the capable arms of the queer-looking duck; for this person was her partner.

The queer-looking duck had been a real dancer in his day, it appeared; and evidently his day was not yet over. In spite of the headlong, gay rapidity with which he bore Miss Fanny about the big room he danced authoritatively, avoiding without effort the lightest collision with other couples, maintaining sufficient grace throughout his wildest moments, and all the while laughing and talking with his partner. What was most remarkable to George, and a little irritating, this stranger in the Amberson mansion had no vestige of the air of deference proper to a stranger in such a place; he seemed thoroughly at home. He seemed offensively so, indeed, when, passing the entrance to the gallery stairway, he disengaged his hand from Miss Fanny's for an instant, and not pausing in the dance, waved a laughing salutation more than cordial, then capered lightly out of sight.

George gazed stonily at this manifestation, responding neither by word nor sign. "How's that for a bit of freshness?" he murmured.

"What was?" Miss Morgan asked.

"That queer-looking duck waving his hand at me like that. Except he's the Sharon girls' uncle I don't know him from Adam."

"You don't need to," she said. "He wasn't waving his hand to you; he meant me."

"Oh, he did?" George was not mollified by the explanation. "Everyone seems to mean you! You certainly do seem to have been pretty busy this week you've been here!"

She pressed her bouquet to her face again and laughed into it, not displeased. She made no other comment, and for another period neither spoke.

"Well," said George finally, "I must say you don't seem to be much of a prattler. They say it's a great way to get a reputation for being wise—never saying much. Don't you ever talk at all?"

"When people can understand," she answered.

He had been looking moodily out at the ballroom, but he turned to her quickly, at this, saw that her eyes were sunny and content, over the top of her bouquet, and he consented to smile.

"Girls are usually pretty fresh!" he said. "They ought to go to a man's college about a year; they'd get taught a few things about freshness! What you got to do after two o'clock tomorrow afternoon?"

"A whole lot of things. Every minute filled up."

"All right," said George. "The snow's fine for sleighing; I'll come for you in a cutter at ten minutes after two."

"I can't possibly go."

"If you don't," he said, "I'm going to sit in the cutter in front of the gate, wherever you're visiting, all afternoon, and if you try to go out with anybody else he's got to whip me before he gets you." And as she laughed—though she blushed a little, too—he continued, seriously: "If you think I'm not in earnest you're at liberty to make quite a big experiment!"

She laughed again. "I don't think I've often had so large a compliment as that," she said, "especially on such short notice—and yet I don't think I'll go with you."

"You be ready at ten minutes after two."

"No, I won't."

"Yes, you will!"

"Yes," she said, "I will!" And her partner for the next dance arrived, breathless with searching.

"Don't forget I've got the third from now," George called after her.

When "the third from now" came George presented himself before her without any greeting, like a brother or a mannerless old friend. Both George and Miss Morgan talked much more to everyone else that evening than to each other, and they said nothing at all at this time. Both looked preoccupied as they began to dance, and preserved a gravity of expression to the end of the number. And their next number they did not dance, but went back to the gallery stairway, seeming to have reached an understanding without any verbal consultation that this suburb was again the place for them.

"Well," said George coolly, when they were seated, "what did you say your name was?"

"Morgan."

"Funny name!"

"Everybody else's name always is."

"I didn't mean it was really funny," George explained. "That's just one of my crowd's bits of horsing at college. We always say 'funny name,' no matter what it is. I guess we're pretty fresh sometimes; but I knew your name was Morgan because my mother said so downstairs. I meant: what's the rest of it?"

"Lucy."

"How old are you?" George asked.

"I don't really know myself."

"What do you mean: you don't really know yourself?"

"I mean I only know what they tell me. I believe them, of course, but believing isn't really knowing."

"Look here!" said George. "Do you always talk like this?"

Miss Lucy Morgan laughed forgivingly, put her young head on one side like a bird and responded cheerfully: "I'm willing to learn wisdom. What are you studying at school?"

"College!"

"At the university! Yes. What are you studying there?"

George laughed. "Lot o' useless guff!"

"Then why don't you study some useful guff?"

"What do you mean: 'Useful'?"

"Something you'd use later, in your business or profession?"

George waved his hand impatiently. "I don't expect to go into any 'business or profession.'"

"No?"

"Certainly not!" George was emphatic, being sincerely annoyed.

"Why not?" she asked mildly.

"Just look at 'em!" he said, almost with bitterness, and he made a gesture presumably intended to indicate the business and professional men now dancing within range of vision. "That's a fine career for a man, isn't it? Lawyers, bankers, politicians! What do they get out of life, I'd like to know! What do they ever know about real things? Where do they ever get?"

He was so earnest that she was surprised and impressed. She had a vague, momentary vision of Pitt, at twenty-one, prime minister of England; and she spoke, involuntarily in a lowered voice, with deference:

"What do you want to be?" she asked.

George answered promptly.

"A yachtsman," he said.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Christian Worship

Rev. 7:9-12; John 4:1-10, 19-24; Mat. 6:5, 6; Heb. 10:19-25.

GOLDEN TEXT.—God is a spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.—John 4:24.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL.—Mat. 4:10; Psalms 84 and 122.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Children praising God (Mat. 21:15, 16).

JUNIOR TOPIC—Worship in God's house (Luke 24:50).

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Why worship and how.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The nature and value of true worship.

1. What Is Worship? (Rev. 7:12).

It is the attitude of the soul toward God, which recognizes him as the Supreme Being of the universe and benevolently inclined toward his creatures. It is the outgoing of the affections toward him and the ascription of praise and adoration to him as the one from whom all blessings come, the one to whom all glory and honor should be given, the one who is all-wise and powerful.

II. Whom to Worship (Rev. 7:10-12).

1. God (vv. 11, 12, cf. Matt. 4:10). Since in him we live, move and have our being (Acts 17:28), and from him every good and perfect gift cometh (James 1:17), we should worship and adore him.

2. Jesus Christ the Lamb (v. 10). We should worship him because he is God and because he, in the incarnation, linked himself with humanity and on the cross made an atonement for us and is now our high priest, through whom we have access to God (Heb. 10:21).

III. Qualifications for Acceptable Worship (John 4:1-10, 19-24).

This is a fine example of personal evangelism. Christ "must needs go through Samaria" to find this poor, sinful woman. He skillfully disclosed his identity to her. He knew the deep need of her soul, even the inward unrest which was hers while practicing sin. He made the point of contact by that which was uppermost in her mind, namely, water, and passed from the water of earthly to the water of everlasting life which was in himself (v. 10). In order to worship God acceptably there must be—

1. Knowledge of Christ (v. 10). Must know him as a prophet from God (v. 19)—the one sent of God (Acts 7:37, cf. Deut. 18:15) to make known to lost men the way to God. Must know him as the Messiah—the one anointed of God to save lost men (John 4:42).

2. A new nature (vv. 23, 24). Only the regenerated can worship God in spirit. Jesus declared "that which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit" (John 3:6). "Except a man be born from above, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3). The natural man has not the capacity to "see" God, therefore he cannot worship him. God is spirit, therefore only the one whose spirit has been quickened can enter into fellowship with him in worship.

3. A sanctified life (Heb. 10:22). The life is sanctified by the Spirit (1 Peter 1:2); through obedience to the Word of God (John 17:17).

4. Faith in God (Heb. 11:6, cf. 10:22). Pretended worship without vitalized faith is an abomination to God.

5. Men of every nation and kindred (Rev. 7:9). God is the God of all nations.

IV. Where to Worship.

1. In secret (Matt. 6:5, 6). The soul shut up with God, with the world and its cares shut out, really worships. Every Christian ought to have a secret chamber.

2. In the assembly (Heb. 10:24, 25). While the private prayer is of first importance, there is value in joint worship with fellow Christians which should not be overlooked. The actions of others are helpful in conducting a frame of mind for worship.

3. Everywhere (John 4:20-24). God is the Omnipresent Spirit, therefore wherever there is a person whose nature is spiritual he can worship. Christianity is unlike every other religion in that without ritual or temple the individual may worship God anywhere. John as truly worshiped God in Patmos as in the assembly at Ephesus, or Paul in the Roman prison as well as with the beloved saints at Philippi.
